Subject:	Computershare employees donate over 500 coats to homeless in Derry

Derry, Thursday 22 December 2016 – Staff members at Computershare’s Derry office have donated over 500 coats to help the homeless keep warm this winter.

Employees of the company’s Loan Services division donated or collected the jackets for men, women and children and passed them to charities DePaul Foyle Haven, The Salvation Army, Men’s Methodist Mission and The Simon Community.

Andrew Jones, Chief Executive Officer at Computershare Loan Services, said: “We’re really proud of the efforts of our staff members to reach out and help those in the local community that are in need.

“We’re the largest and best rated third-party mortgage servicer in the UK and Ireland and, as a result, we often see how easily individuals and families can suffer from financial problems and end up with their homes at risk.

“We’ve got a long history of working for charities in Derry and at our offices across the UK and Ireland, so well done everyone for collecting such an impressive number of coats.”

After being collected, the coats were dry cleaned free of charge by Foyle Dry Cleaners.

The Computershare Loan Services colleagues will enter their efforts into the company’s global Green Oscars Awards, which gives employees around the globe the chance to develop and run a sustainability project for their office or local community and then compete with fellow teams for regional and global prizes.
